Keep your End of Year, First of Year, last quarterly and your last backup OFF SITE!

Rotate your last quarterly and last backup off site when the new one is made

BACKUP DISKS SAMPLE

MONTHLY FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

I recommend investing in the legal sized 3-ring binder for the monthly financial report.

If you purchase the pre-drilled legal sized paper you are ready to take the documents straight from the meeting where they are approved to the binder where they will be ready for audit

If you don't want to make this investment – keep a file folder with the documents

BANK STATEMENTS

I like to keep the monthly bank statement with check images with my Bank Reconciliation report signed by the council

Use a binder or file but keep all statement and reconciliation documentation together.

File them in a 3 ring binder order with the invoice and check stub stapled so the auditor can see the data.

Don't file items so they have to be unstapled to be verified

Charges should be filed in numerical order with the backup documentation for the charge
You could place them in with the monthly payments or keep them separate in a section of a binder

If your entity uses "PO Request forms" you can staple this document to the PO/BC that has been issued

Receipt/PO/Blanket Cert/Charges

Inventories for each department should be kept in a file each year to be placed with the documents to be audited

Each entity has one or more attorneys. Keep files either per attorney or by subject, such as:

Lawsuits or disputes should have their own file

INSURANCE POLICIES

All insurance policies whether liability, health, dental or Fireman's Accident & Life should have it's own file

When a policy renews it receives a new file with the policy effective dates on the outside

Policies stay with the audit years they are in effect (that date will bridge two audit periods)

LOCALLY ADOPTED POLICIES

Policies such as Public Records, Records Retention, Employee Manuals, etc. should be kept in 3-ring binders.

When a policy is updated you must replace the old copy with the new noting the effective date.

Keep outdated policies. The auditors will need to review an old policy to see if it was followed during the audit period

Keep a copy of all correspondence updating them on newly sworn in elected officials, resignations and appointments. Include data on the unexpired term of office for all appointments.

Keep these Pledged Funds Statements in a separate file for each bank and contract period.

E-mails with the attorney go in the attorney file, e-mails with the insurance company go in the insurance file and e-mails from residents go in the Misc. Correspondence file.

DEBT

Each Debt needs to have it's own file identified by the debt holder such as OWDA Sewer Loan 2008
